WILLIAM: Arthur's not weird

JUDY: laughs loudly Arthur, bloody hell, that's weird in itself.
Who in their right mind would name a little baby, Arthur?
Looking down at a little cherub in a crib, and calling him Arthur.

WILLIAM: He was named after his grandad, wo died on the same day as he was born actually.

JUDY: Oh no! I'm so sorry. Oh, isn't that lovely!
Oh, I'm so sorry, how rude of me.
I'm not really like that, honest, taking the mickey out of people like that, without thinking, I'm so sorry.
